A Southport man apparently drowned in lake near Bridgeway Lakes and Southport Parkway on Monday after swimming out to try to retrieve a radio-controlled boat that had stopped working. The accident occurred just before 1 p.m. on Christmas Day.

Lieutenant David Farmer of the West Sacramento Police Department said that the man was in the company of a 10-year old brother and seven-year old cousin, playing with the boat, when it malfunctioned and stopped moving about 40 feet from shore. The man then "took off his clothes and swam to recover the boat," reported Farmer in a press statement. "After reaching the boat, the victim went under the water, came back to the surface, and again submerged a second time, failing to resurface."

Emergency responders included police, the Sacramento and West Sacramento fire department water rescue teams and the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department Drowning Accident Rescue Team (DART). Working from a small boat, they found the victim in about 15 feet of water. A diver pulled him from the water.

The man, later identified by the Sacramento coroner's office as Kenneth Earl Edwards of Peter Island Road, was taken by ambulance across Southport Parkway to a helicopter waiting at the ballfield at Bridgeway Island Park. The helicopter took him to the UC Davis Medical Center.

Efforts to revive Edwards were unsuccessful, and Edwards was pronounced dead at 3:09 p.m., said Farmer.

Witnesses reported that the boat may have been a Christmas gift for one of the family members.

Recycle holiday tree & trash

From Denise Kotko
City of West Sacramento

The gifts have been opened and the holiday is winding down. Don't forget these simple holiday recycling and waste reduction tips:

- Wrapping paper, cardboard boxes, shirt boxes, greeting cards, and beverage containers may all be recycled curbside in your recycling cart. Please flatten boxes to save space.
- Christmas Trees may be recycled by cutting them into 3 foot sections and placing them at the curb next to your yard waste cart, or they may be dropped-off for free at the following places:
- Riverside Green Waste & Wood Recycling, 2903 Industrial Blvd. Monday to Saturday, 7am to 4pm
- Yolo County Central Landfill. Call for hours and directions (530) 666-8729
- Did you get a new microwave, TV, clock radio, or other electrical item? Remember to properly dispose of the old item by recycling for FREE either at the Yolo County Landfill or by calling 877-879-9668 to arrange for pick-up.
- Before you throw away or recycle all of those gift catalogs, take a minute to pick out the ones you don't want to receive anymore. Call their toll-free numbers NOW and ask to get off their list.

Remember, garbage and recycling service will not be performed on Christmas Day or on New Year's Day. All services for both weeks will be moved one day later.

'Christmas Basket Project serves 800+ families

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project provided holiday meal baskets to over 800 families this month, reports project chairperson Helena Helmold.

"We were still delivering on Sunday, Christmas Eve," she told the News-Ledger. "I haven't actually sat down and counted how many families we helped. We have advance signups, and then we have other people show up later for a basket."

Turnout was a bit lower than last year, she added. The project offers food to any local family that needs help putting together a holiday meal, and it is supported by volunteers, individual and corporate donors, churches and service groups.

Sometimes a family that didn't ask for help got it anyway.

"People say, 'I know this family that really needs help,'" said Helmold. "They would call us and give us a referral, and then we would 'Santa Claus' them. We had one little gal, 86-years old, who we surprised with a basket, and she said, 'What's this? Where did this come from?' She was so thrilled."

The baskets were assembled according to the size of the family receiving them.

"The one- or two-person families got a great big Foster Farms roaster chicken of at least five pounds," Helmold explained. "Families of three on up got a turkey. They all get real potatoes, rice, bread, milk – which is expensive – fruit, soup and pasta, and whatever other goodies we can throw in."

Safeway provides a "fantastic" discount to the group on the poultry and milk, she said.

Other sponsors also included the Grocery Outlet, Shea Homes, PG&E and local service groups. One individual donor told Helmold that if the donations came up short, she should call him – and she did, and the man helped make ends finally meet.

"Between the Women of the Moose and the Kiwanis, they raised over $2,300," said Helmold, adding that this went a long way towards meeting the project's $12,000 in costs.

The Christmas Basket Project returns every year to West Sacramento, attracting a broad base of supporters and volunteers.

The Christmas Basket Project also collected donations of toys to give out -- and managed to pass out "close to 1,100" toys to needy local kids in the area, reported Helmold. The West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce and its members were responsible for bringing in a lot of those toys for the program.

"Once again, we just had a blast doing it," said Helmold of the West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project.

Lillie "Pat" Bledsoe and Mauda Butte recently presented Helena Helmold (center) with a check for $1,000 on behalf of the West Sacramento Kiwanis. Helmold is the director of the West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project. The check was part of a donation of funds raised at Taco Night, an annual event sponsored by the West Sacramento Moose.

Members of the public are urged not to confront any potential suspects they see. Instead, they are urged to contact local law enforcement or to call the probation department at (530) 406-5326.

County: 'biz-friendly' effort

News & commentary by
Beth Gabor
County of Yolo

This year the Yolo County Board of Supervisors took a number of measures to make Yolo County a more business-friendly environment, including most recently, making a policy change to reduce the time frame in which business licenses are granted or denied from 14 days to ten days. Additionally, Yolo County will now begin listing new business licenses weekly in the Sacramento Business Journal.

"Banks and lending companies will often look to the Business Journal for new companies in need of their services," said Heidi DAgostino, Yolo County Code Compliance Officer. "This listing of new business licenses, in addition to the existing list we provide of long-term leases in Yolo County, will assist financial institutions in identifying those in need of Small Business Administration loans.

Correction

A West Sacramento homeowner whose photograph appeared in last week's News-Ledger was misidentified. The man was involved in the removal of a dying old tree from his yard and part of a neighborhood program to plant new yard trees. His name is Richard Wright.

The News-Ledger regrets the error.

'Memory Jolters,' for those of a certain age

I was having one of those catch-up-on-the-news conversations the other day with an old friend of mine (we both graduated from West Sacramento's James Marshall High School in 1965) when our little chat suddenly turned interesting.

"Do you ever notice how certain words or phrases will immediately take you back to another time and place?" asked my friend.

"What do you mean?" I asked with interest.

"Well," said my friend, "for instance, when you hear the words `candy cigarettes', don't you immediately think back to when you were young and you used to ask your mom to buy you candy cigarettes when she went to the grocery store?"

"Hey, I do remember those things," I said, returning my friend's smile. "They were really sweet and red on the tip so that they looked like they were actually lit. They came in their own little packs and I used to like to let them dangle out of my mouth like Humphrey Bogart did when he was playing a tough guy in the movies."

"See what I mean?" said my friend. "Two little words, and they bring back a whole bunch of memories."

"You wanna know what really shoots me back to the past?" I asked my friend.

"Sure."

"Smells."

"Smells? Really?"

"Yeah. For instance, there's this perfume my mother used to wear to work and it was the first thing I smelled every day when she woke me up to go to school and when I smell it on someone else I immediately think back to having to get out of a nice warm bed and trudge off to school. And on a really rainy day, when everything gets good and soaked, sometimes the earth will smell really fertile just like it did when I was overseas, and as fast as you can snap your finger, I'm back in Vietnam."

As our conversation continued, I learned what had got my friend so interested in how a single word or two can immediately kick in our memory banks. A work buddy of hers had sent her an e-mail full of "memory jolters".

"How do I get my hands on that e-mail?" I asked my friend, pretty sure that I could use it for a column someday.

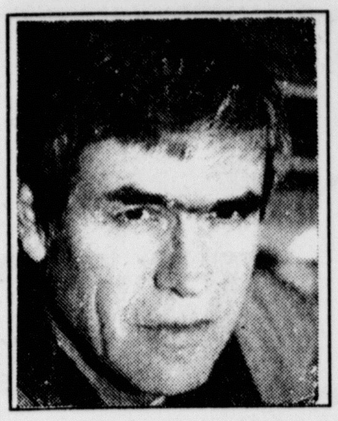

"It's on my computer at work," said my friend. "How about if I just fax you a copy?"

"I would sure appreciate it," I said. "They're called memory jolters, huh?"

"That's right, and you'll definitely see why when you start reading them."

And so I did -- and I hope the following 35 memory jolters will be as entertaining for you as they were for me:

Happy Holidays to you and your love ones! I hope your Christmas Day was has enjoyable as my mine and you had time to reflect on your state of mind and count your blessing as the year 2006 comes to a close. It's time to ring in the New Year and prepare for life's new challenges and a 2007 season of Sports!

Did you know the Amgen Tour of California (bike race) will racing through the streets of West Sacramento on February 20th as they head to the finish line at the State Capitol during the second stage of their 122 mile leg from Santa Rosa?

Did you know Sacramento is also hosting the first round of the 2007 NCAA Men's Basketball tournament at the Arco in March (15-17th), the Men's and Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships in June and the Women's NCAA Volleyball Final Four in December?

Mix in these great events with the A's, Giants, River Cats, Kings, Warriors, Sharks, Boxing, MMA, 49ers, and yes the Raiders – Northern California will be rich with Sporting Events! Happy New Year – Hear comes 2007!

Kings Korner

The Kings (11-14) are enjoying their holiday vacation time off from the court as they prepare for the Iverson-less 76ers to come to town on Wednesday night (7 p.m.-CSN). The Kings ended their losing streak with a stunning come from behind win in Denver last Friday. The Kings ruined Allen Iverson's debut in Denver last Friday but the Kings have some team chemistry problems of their own. The rumors are everywhere that Ron Artest and Mike Bibby can't play together and one of the superstars must go!

OK, Bibby is shooting a career-low 35 percent; having never shot below 43 percent he recorded during his rookie year in Vancouver and add his 25 percent three-point shot totals so far this year is not helping the matter.

Remember, Bibby is still recovering from a badly sprained wrist but this is a team sport and only Kevin Martin has been contributing to the Kings scoring totals on a daily basis.

The Kings, who trail the division leading Suns by 7 games, will travel to Los Angeles on Friday night to play for last place against the Clippers, then return to the Arco for five home games that will bring the Warriors, Knicks, Lakers, Blazers and Cavs to Sacramento. The Kings need to turn the season around during this home stand or maybe we will be saying bye-bye to Bibby or Ron Ron!

NFL Week 17

The 49ers (6-9) choked again last week losing this time to Arizona and kissing their playoffs hopes good-bye even after Seattle lost to San Diego to open the door to the division title. The Niners will finish up the season in Denver, who is still alive for a wild card playoff spot.

The Raiders (2-13) lost as expected to KC on Saturday night and are still in the hunt for the No. 1 pick in the draft with the Detroit Lions. The Raiders play in New York on Sunday against the Jets while the Lions travel to Dallas for their 14th loss. Did you know if the Raiders and Lions end up tied with the worst record the Lions will have the right to the top pick because of a tougher season schedule?

The NFC playoffs teams are set with division winners Chicago, New Orleans, Seattle, with Philadelphia and Dallas invited to the Super Bowl party. There are four teams tied at 7-8 for final wild card spot.

In the AFC the Chargers, Ravens, Colts, and Patriots are division winners with the final two wild card spots still up for grabs. Denver, New York, and Cincinnati are still alive.

Aztec's Picks

Aztec had a bad Christmas week (1-3) to drop his season total to 34 wins, 31 losses and 1 tie with only the Eagles win over the Boys on Monday night saving him from really stinking up the doghouse. Anyway, the Dawg will pick 4 bowl games this week with Bowling Season in full swing and he will also pick 3 NFL games as the regular season comes to close.

In the Bowl games the Dawg is going with Texas (-11 ½) over Iowa and USC (-1 ½) over Michigan in the Rose Bowl. Aztec also is licking his paws over Boise St. (+9) against Oklahoma and Louisville (-9) will beat Wake Forest in the Fiesta Bowl.

In the NFL the Dawg is going with the Colts (-10) against Miami and the Bengals (-6) will finish off the Steelers and in Houston the Texans (-4) will beat up the Browns.

Enjoy your day – see ya next year!

A Sporting View by Mark Vasto

NFL: Playoffs Done Right

One week after throwing our few cents into the firestorm raging around the functional inadequacy surrounding college football's Bowl Championship Series, let's sit back and celebrate the league that does it right: the National Football League.

Playoff football in the NFL is at, or right near, the pinnacle of American sports. Expertly marketed and sold by the league, the made-for-television sport garners the highest ratings as compared with other professional leagues' playoff games.

Now that the league has an even number of teams in each division, the NFL playoff structure isn't a hard situation to grasp for the average fan. Each of the four division winners is seeded 1-4 based on their records. The two wildcard teams are seeded 5th and 6th (with the better of the two having seed No. 5) regardless of their records compared with the four division winners.

For the past few years, fans of the league have marveled at the parity among teams. "On any given Sunday," any team can beat another team in the NFL. Come playoff time, however, you will see that only the best coaches in the league make it to the Super Bowl tournament with any regularity. Look at the regular list of coaches yourself — start with the great Vince Lombardi, Hank Stram and Don Shula and work your way through Tom Landry, Chuck Noll, Bill Walsh, Joe Gibbs, Marty Shottenheimer all the way to Bill Parcells, Bill Belicheck, Dick Vermeil and Brian Billick. They're the winners ... they're the ones who make it year after year, team after team.

Of course, at its core, football is a brutal game, won simply by the team that can move the ball at will up and down the gridiron and score. Playoff football, however, is a little more complex. Not only are the record books marked with the names of great teams and players, a story emerges from behind the numbers.

It was the West Coast offense that led San Francisco 49ers wide receiver Jerry Rice to amass the most touchdowns (22) in playoff history. Thurman Thomas emerged out of the backfield, fired from Marv Levy's "K-gun" offense that propelled the Buffalo Bills to four straight Super Bowls. Chuck Noll's Pittsburgh Steelers and their vaunted "Steel Curtain" got the ball back into Franco Harris' hands enough times to win four Super Bowls and score 17 playoff touchdowns. Bart Starr, the field general for Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers navigated the frozen tundra of Lambeau Field and still possesses the highest quarterback rating (104.8) of all-time — besting even Joe Montana in that regard (though Joe played 23 playoff games to Starr's 10).

This year the talent remains strong in the NFL, so buckle up, sports fans.

Journal, Yolo County has also made a stronger commitment to making Yolo County a more business-friendly environment with the appointment of an Economic Development Manager, Wes Ervin, and the creation of a "Blue Ribbon" panel on economic development which provided a number of recommendations to the Board of Supervisors earlier this year. With the assistance of the County Code Compliance Officer and the Planning, Resources and Public Works Department, the Economic Development Division is working hard to identify new business opportunities as well as providing support to businesses wishing to expand. Currently there are over 950 business licenses issued in Yolo County.

"The Blue Ribbon panel's 15 recommendations have set the stage for the county to take advantage of tremendous economic development potential in Yolo County," said Wes Ervin, Economic Development Manager. "We are now in a position to identify and provide a myriad of resources for new businesses and for job creation opportunities."

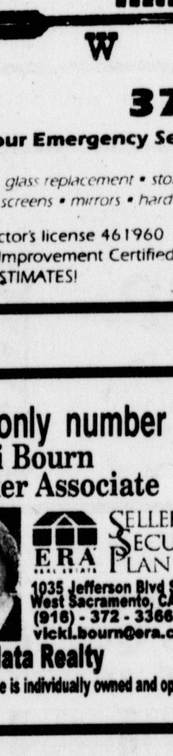

Yolo County is looking for feedback from local businesses regarding support they may need to expand or maintain their business. Interested parties may contact Heidi DAgostino, County Code Compliance Officer at (530) 666-8777 or Wes Ervin, Economic Development Manager at (530) 666-8066.

Jeg Coughlin Sr.'s Legacy Looms Large

Drag-racing fans will quickly recognize the name Jeg Coughlin Jr., the former NHRA Pro Stock champion and current driver of the Slammers Ultimate Milk Chevy Cobalt Pro Stock. However, the current "Jeg" is actually the son of the original Jeg Coughlin, a former racer and automotive aftermarket pioneer.

Recently named Grand Marshal of the fifth annual NHRA National Hot Rod Reunion presented by DuPont Automotive Finishes, Jeg. Sr. is looking forward to the popular nostalgia event, which will be held June 15-17, 2007 at National Trail Raceway in Columbus, Ohio.

Coughlin's contributions to the sport of drag racing are many. As a driver, he actively competed more than 30 years in every type of class, from his notable AA/Gas Supercharged gassers to the ultimate Top Fuel division.

Although he never won a professional NHRA National event, he did win three divisional Top Fuel titles (1977, '78, '80) when nitro racing was part of the divisional series. He is one of just a handful of drivers to race in all three professional classes of Top Fuel, Funny Car and Pro Stock. He also won a Pro Comp title in 1976 with his alcohol dragster. His very first win in drag racing came in 1969, when he won Super Eliminator at Windsor Dragway in Detroit.

Eclipsing his prowess on the drag strip, however, is Coughlin's business acumen. He is the founder of Jeg's Automotive Inc, one of the world's largest aftermarket performance-parts suppliers. Along with companies like Bill Smith's Speedway Motors in Lincoln, Neb., Jeg's legacy dates back many decades. He first opened for business in 1960 as Jeg's Automotive, a small auto repair and parts business housed in a rented $400 per month, 4,000 square-foot garage in downtown Columbus. Under Coughlin's watchful eye, and with the help of his family and employees, the business grew to its current 225,000 square-foot, state-of-the-art facility with more than 400 full-time employees.

Now retired, Coughlin mentors his sons, John, Troy, Mike and Jeg Jr. He also spends time with the third generation of Coughlin children, making it truly a family affair for all ages.

Coughlin's selection as the Grand Marshal for the Hot Rod Reunion is the latest in a series of honors for the 68-year-old legend. Last January, the board of directors at Ohio State University Medical Center and The James Cancer Hospital and Solove Research Institute established the "Jeg Coughlin Chair in Childhood Cancer Developmental Therapeutics" after receiving a gift in perpetuity from the JEGS Foundation for Cancer Research. A month later, Coughlin was honored with an induction into the Olentangy Business Hall of Fame in Powell, Ohio. He is also a member of the NHRA North Central Division Hall of Fame and the Hot Rod Magazine Hall of Fame. Coughlin has also received the Car Craft "Ollie Award" for lifetime achievement, among other honors.

"One of the things I enjoy most is giving back to the community," said the senior Jeg. "Of all the things we've done, I think I am most proud of the Jeg's Foundation for Cancer Research. It's a great feeling to know that you're doing something to make a difference in people's lives."

We'd also like to congratulate Jeg Sr., who for the past 46 years of successfully balancing his roles as father, entrepreneur and drag racer. He deserves all the accolades that come his way.

Digging for the Truth: One Man's Epic Adventure Exploring the World's Greatest Archaeological Mysteries
By Josh Bernstein
(Gotham Books, $27.50)
Reviewed by Cindy Elavsky

Fans of The History Channel's "Digging for the Truth" are going to be quite happy with this "find." "Digging for the Truth: One Man's Epic Adventure Exploring the World's Greatest Archaeological Mysteries," a book written by Josh Bernstein, host of the eponymous-named TV show, is a lush and beautiful exploration of all the exotic locales that his viewers are accustomed to seeing on his show.

This coffee-table-worthy book is glossy and filled with pictures, information boxes and background on our fearless exploration leader. "Truth" is teeming with explanations regarding Egypt's pyramids, the Lost Ark of the Covenant, Stonehenge and the temple of the Queen of Sheba, to name just a few adventures.

Bernstein is at his best when he explains what he knows in laymen's terms. He is able to make the book an exciting and interesting read — at times it's as in-depth and fast-paced as a Clive Cussler novel.

We also get to see Bernstein at his not-so-best, as he battles food-poisoning, spider bites and setbacks in filming for his television show. "Truth" takes on a diary-like tone and lets the reader feel like a part of Bernstein's epic journey (much like his TV show does).

The author also gives helpful advice on clothing, gear and medicine to pack for these journeys, how to build a Viking ship (you never know) and how to build a fire (essential knowledge when you're roughing it!).

"Digging for the Truth" is essential reading for any history and adventure buff. This millennium's Indiana Jones, Josh Bernstein's love for adventure and for his job is as infectious as it is interesting. The reader will definitely come away from this book having learned something — while being entertained in the process.

Phase 2 – Fall 2015 through Spring 2017
Community College
Future expansion of the community college center will take place after 2014 on a site just west of the Phase 1 building. The two buildings will share the lobby and stairwell constructed on the west end of the Phase 1 building. This building will also house classrooms and administrative space for the college, and is expected to be approximately 25,000 square feet and three stories in height. Parking will be surface, to be located within a 1,000 foot radius of the building. Some of the original Phase 1 surface parking will be reconfigured to accommodate both the demolition of the existing Turner Library and the construction of the new County Library. There will be parking for Phase 2 on City owned property that is contiguous to the building site. Some of this surface parking will be converted into multi-level or stacked parking in Phase 3.
Library
A new 15,000 to 18,000 square foot one story library is now planned be located on the southern edge of the Los Rios Community College site. The programming for the library is currently taking place. It is possible the library schedule could be moved into Phase 1a.
Phase 3 – Fall 2020 through Spring 2022
Community College
The final expansion of the community college center calls for a 25,000 square foot building to be located south of the Phase 2 building. With the completion of the Los Rios Community College District campus there will be a build out of retail and residential mixed use for the entire Master Plan area. In Phase 3 there will be a multi-level parking garage with a capacity of approximately 400 cars.
Mixed Use and Parking Garage
The city proposes development of mixed-use (residential/retail) with a parking garage to accommodate 400 or more cars on the city-owned Ankele property. The retail will focus on West Capitol Avenue. The approximate usable square footage for retail is six to fifteen thousand square feet. The high density residential focus will be on Merkley. The approximate square footage for the high density residential is fifteen to forty thousand square feet.

The Mitigated Negative Declaration concludes that with the implementation of recommended mitigation measures, there will be no significant adverse impacts on the environment. Copies of the Mitigated Negative Declaration are on file in the office of the West Sacramento Public Works & Community Development Department at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd Floor, West Sacramento, CA 95691 (916-617-4645).

The West Sacramento City Council will consider adoption of the Mitigated Negative Declaration on February 7, 2007 in the City Council chambers located at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, West Sacramento, California, at 7:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ADOPT A NEGATIVE DECLARATION

A Mitigated Negative Declaration has been prepared for the Civic Center Master Plan to be constructed at West Capitol and Merkley Avenues in the City of West Sacramento. This Mitigated Negative Declaration has been prepared to address the potential environmental impacts of the Civic Center Master Plan that will be implemented in phases. This environmental document addresses Phases 1 and 1a (described below). The transit center was previously considered under a project specific mitigated negative declaration and a categorical exclusion from NEPA. A description of the transit center is included for informational purposes. Subsequent phases of the project also included for informational purposes but will be analyzed under separate environmental documents when the phases become reasonably foreseeable.

Phase 1 - Winter 2007 to Spring/Summer 2009
Community College
Phase one will be a 25,000 square foot, three-story building with 80 to 120 surface parking spaces. Forty of the parking spaces are planned for the current Los Rios Community College site and the balance will be constructed on adjacent properties within the Master Plan. Those adjacent properties are owned by the City. The building will be designed and built by Los Rios Community College District. The total building footprint will be approximately 10,000 square feet to be located on the south side of West Capitol Avenue approximately 180 feet west of the Merkley Avenue intersection. The city will share proportionately in all design and construction costs (approximately 40%). Construction is scheduled to start in the winter of 2007, with completion in May 2009. The main entry will be located at the west end of the building facing West Capitol Avenue. The first and second floor of the building will be classroom and administrative offices for Los Rios Community College. At completion and move in, the third floor will contain offices for City staff. The third floor will be purchased by Los Rios Community College District no later than January 2014 from the City. This will be used by Los Rios Community College for classroom space and Phase 1a expansion.

Transit Center
Phase 1 will include the construction of the West Sacramento Transit Center. This facility will wrap the corner of Merkley and West Capitol Avenues and will contain six bus berths, three on West Capitol Avenue and three on Merkley Avenue. The facility is planned to accommodate up to eight buses per hour. A bus turn – around will be constructed on Merkley Ave.

Phase 1a – Spring 2008 through Winter 2009
Community College
Los Rios will assume ownership and occupancy of the third floor of the Phase 1 building no later than January 1, 2014. Los Rios may acquire it at any time prior to that with a minimum 2 year notice.

Community Center
The Community Center will be a two story 20,000 square feet building with 20 parking spaces adjacent to the Community Center for the Senior Center. The Center will be a multi-generational Community Center with a strong Senior Center component. Programming and intended uses for this building include large and small meeting rooms, classrooms, a dining area, kitchen, multi-purpose rooms, game/technical rooms, lounge, offices, theater, cyber café, wellness center, arts and crafts rooms, locker rooms, therapy pool, aerobics rooms and outdoor activity areas. The Community Center will be adjacent to the West Sacramento Transit Center and plaza that will be constructed during Phase 1.

Future Phases (to be considered under separate environmental documentation)

Finding Leak's Source Leads to Frustration

Q. In reading a recent question regarding water leaks and staining on the ceiling, I have been unable to locate where the water is coming from that has caused damage to my dining-room ceiling (there is a bedroom above with no ceiling damage). Twice after a heavy rain, it has leaked in the same area of the dining-room ceiling. The first contractor caulked an area outside where the porch joins the house. Neighbors who have had similar damage told me it was caused by a window in the bedroom above, and I replaced all my windows. Do I need a roofer or plumber to help locate the source of the leak? — Nancy V., via e-mail

A. Because the leaks occur only after heavy rain, I would recommend calling a roofer first to check all possible entry points and look for damage both atop and underneath the roof. Deteriorated shingles, damaged flashing at the roof joints or around chimneys or vent stacks, and other hard-to-find but significant issues could be the culprit.

If the roofer can't find the cause, or additional repairs don't stop the leaks, contact a plumber to check the runs throughout the house for any trouble spots.

Another contractor to consider is a building or foundation specialist. This may be a long shot, but if the house has settled over several years or the foundation has shifted slightly, small cracks or warping in the walls or along door or window frames may have occurred (hence the suggestion from your neighbors to replace the windows). In this case, the specialist will check the entire home's condition.

As someone who is constantly chasing little leaks that inexplicably appear (and disappear for months at a time) throughout the old home I live in, I feel for you. Best of luck in resolving this issue.

"In the article on fixing ceiling damage, you said to use a thin piece of plywood when making the repair. The best thickness of plywood for this is between one-eighth and one-quarter inch, to provide a firm, lightweight backing for the sheetrock." — Terry, via e-mail

A Different Kind of Resolution

If you've already broken your New Year's resolutions, it's not too late to try again, this time with a different set of goals. None involves dieting, getting more exercise or kicking a vice. Instead, they can be broken into two categories: Getting what you have coming to you and getting organized.

Get what you're entitled to:

—Sign in with the VA to recheck any service-related injury or disability. You might be eligible for an upgrade in compensation.

—Would you benefit from education and training? How about vocation rehabilitation? Maybe a bit of counseling or outreach?

—Ready to buy a house? Look into VA home loans.

—Want to start a business? Check the Small Business Administration, or take a look at VetFran, a program to help you get started in a franchise.

—If you're uncertain whether you're getting all your benefits, do your homework. Get the American Legion to help out, if necessary. Gather all your paperwork, including separation papers and your final medical records. The American Legion has service officers who will review all your benefits and help file claims.

Get organized:

Nobody wants to think about it, but consider what your final wishes are if something happens to you. See an attorney and draft a will, then put it with your military paperwork where your next of kin can find it. Include a copy of your marriage certificate and birth certificates for any children. Make it easy for others to follow your last wishes.

Please Help: Witnesses Sought

On Saturday, September 23, 2006, at approximately 3:00 p.m., I was involved in an accident at the intersection of Jefferson Boulevard and Lake Washington.

I was driving a dark green Honda, heading west across Jefferson when I was broadsided by a Dodge Ram truck.

A witness -- the driver of a car behind me -- paused after the wreck and said, "You know you had the green, don't you?" I said "yes," but was too shook up to get the witness's phone number.

I am asking that this witness, or anyone who saw the accident please call me. I would be very grateful. Call me, Connie, or Buzz Jones, PIP Printing, (916) 372-7177, 371-3304, or email buzzconn@pacbell.net

The Sacramento River registered three feet two inches U. S. gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. Already bars are forming immediately north of the Southern Pacific bridge and are causing trouble to river steamers proceeding northward. As a matter of fact, only the lightest draft boats on the river can now proceed northward as far as Knights Landing.

Mrs. O. L. Swett was in Westgate yesterday looking over the ground in the expectation of selecting a site for a home which she contemplates building in the near future. Mr. Swett is accountant with McAnulty Brothers and has permanently settled in this locality.

Clarence Ward, letter carrier on Rural Route 8 out of Sacramento, has purchased a lot in Westgate and is about to build a home there as soon as plans are completed and which he had in consideration for some time.

Last Saturday, July 18th, J. B. Silva of Riverbank was arrested by Constable Wilson and Deputy Sheriff Jed Lee on a charge of battery preferred by his wife. He was taken to court immediately and pleaded guilty. Silva promised that he would get to work immediately and refrain from abusing his wife, who is believed to be in a delicate condition.

Last Wednesday William Graham was sent to Woodland by Judge Barry to spend ninety days in the County Jail on a charge presented against him by Constable Wilson for vagrancy. He welcomed the sentence, because he believed it would be the means of breaking him of the narcotic habit.

J. P. Yost, fire warden in this locality, swore to a warrant last Wednesday against Alfred C. Gregory for having started a fire on his ranch north of town and letting it get beyond control. The fire resulted in the destruction of twenty acres of grain on a neighboring ranch owned by Mr. Luce. When arraigned before Judge Barry, Gregory pleaded not guilty and he was given time so that he might consult his brother in Oakland, T. T. C. Gregory. It is understood that Gregory may contest the charge made against him by Yost and demand a jury trial when the case is called again.

Ed. Webber of Oakland remitted a fine of ten dollars last Thursday to Judge Barry's court. This was a fine of ten dollars assessed against him some time ago when he pleaded guilty to a charge made against him of cutting in by Traffic Officer Jacobs. Webber had been threatened with arrest about a week ago and remitted the fine before the threat could be put into operation.

Condemnation Proceedings Filed in Superior Court for Right of Way Over O'Connor and Harbinson Properties

In the Superior Court at Woodland yesterday suit was filed against Thomas O'Connor and Mrs. J. Harbinson for right of way for the state highway that is about to be built to connect with the M Street bridge .

The State Highway Commission, through Engineer McLeod, made an offer to the owners of the property, but it was rejected and decision was arrived at to stand suit rather than give up the property for what the owners consider to be a trifle.

Some time ago the Realty Board of Sacramento named three appraisers to value the property desired for a right of way. The appraisers were Ben Leonard, George Artz and J. C. Carly.

With their valuation Thomas O'Connor did not agree and instructed his attorneys to stand suit rather than lose the property for the price offered.

The State Highway Commission will not be delayed in the construction of the road, because it will make a deposit to cover the damage done as appraised by the Realty Board committee.

Bids are now being asked and will be opened on August 17th, at 2 P.M., for the construction of the roadbed and the subway from the pavement in West Sacramento the subway that now exists at the foot of Fifth Street.

Immediately after the bids are examined a contract will be let to the lowest bidder for the construction of the subway and the grading of the roadbed.

The excavation of the subway will furnish enough filling to complete the grade in the West Sacramento District and also to fill the borrow pit from the new subway to Fifth Street. This borrow pit will be filled simply to grade, contrary to the opinion that prevailed some time ago that the road would be elevated to a height just about four feet loss than that of the embankment of the Sacramento Northern Railroad.

At the Fifth Street subway the level of the new roadbed will be level with the road that exists at the present time.

Other property owners whose holdings will be affected by the construction of the roadway to the M Street bridge have agreed to the offer made by the Highway Commission for right of way. These are D. J. Silvey, The West Sacramento Company, the Southern Pacific Company and the owners of the property left by Baltzer Marty.

In all, the O'Connor and Harbinson interests will forfeit three acres for the right of way. The exact figure offered for this land by the State Highway Commission could not be ascertained, but it is understood to range around $6000.

Thomas O'Connor claims that he will be damaged at least, in the loss of this property, $10,000, and that he will still be loser by the cutting up of his land.

Contrary to the popular understanding in Washington, it is understood now that no work had been done by the State Highway Commission within the town of Washington. Any work done to connect the pavement in West Sacramento with the Southern Pacific bridge was done by the Yolo County supervisors.

The condemnation suit entered against O'Connor and Harbinson will not delay the construction of the roadbed. As soon as the bid is let, work will be started immediately on the subway and the filling removed therefrom will be used on the roadbed in West Sacramento and north of the embankment.

Engineer McLeod assured the Independent yesterday that the new roadway would be twenty-seven feet wide in the concrete portion, with a total width of thirty-seven feet.

Near the M Street bridge the road will swing in a wide circle northward and take up some of the property of the Southern Pacific Company that is now used as a camping ground.

NEW AUTO CAMP BEING ESTABLISHED NEAR WESTGATE

On the land lately purchased from the West Sacramento Company, consisting of two acres, by E. Schaffnit, an auto camp is being established at the present time under the direction of R. McQueen.

Besides the auto camp there will also be built an oil station, a grocery store and an automobile accessory station.

The two acres is now being used by Mr. Schaffnit as a storage place for fuel. Great piles of oak are stacked on the lot and more is arriving every day.

McQueen, speaking to the Independent yesterday, said:

"We are about to build on this property about 120 cabins of two rooms each. In addition we are going to erect one large buidinlg 400 feet in length and 28 feet in width. This building will be used for campers with a parking place for automobiles provided between each apartment.

"On the roadway we are about to erect a building that will house an oil station and a grocery store, and practically the entire two acres will be utilized for building purposes."

At the present time a building is being erected measuring 30x20 feet. This is to be used as the office for the camping ground and woodyard.

It is located on the highway between the M Street bridge and West Sacramento headquarters and immediately opposite the California State Rice Milling Company's mill.

McQueen also stated that every modern convenience necessary in camping life would be added to the grounds. There will be shower baths, a large community kitchen, a community laundry and a community dance hall. These are to be of the most modern type so that no excuses can be offered by those who occupy berths that they cannot get conveniences.

Already the office building is about three-quarters completed and construction of the other buildings will be started next week.

WASHINGTON BOOSTERS' CLUB OFFERS SYMPATHY IN DEATH

At the meeting of the Washington Boosters' Club last Tuesday night in the town hall resolutions were adopted on the death of Mrs. Emma Reinersman, and it was ordered that a copy be spread on the minutes of the club and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

The resolution read:

NEW WATER MAINS TO BE INSTALLED THROUGHOUT WESTGATE

A decision has been reached by the bondholders' committee of West Sacramento to lay new water mains of six inch diameter throughout the Westgate district and to be connected with the new pump that was installed last week.

Last Saturday a test of the well was started and continued for seventy-two hours continuously. The test proved that an inexhaustible supply of water is waiting for use in the district. The great motor and pump were kept incessantly working during these seventy-two hours with very little depreciation in the water level of the well.

During the test the water measurement showed that the pump was throwing 950 gallons of water per minute and continued the discharge during the three days and nights.

The quality of the water continued during all the tests to be of the very best quality with an unending supply that should meet all the requirements of the district for many years to come.

During the operation of the well J. Peltier and G. M. Jones, secretary of the bondholders' committee, were on the ground. They were highly pleased with results and immediately decided that new mains would be installed throughout the district of six inches in diameter and of galvanized iron pipe.

This new provision for a supply of good water in the Westgate district will be an assurance to land purchasers and home purchasers that a continuous and splendid supply of water will be aways available.

Bids are now being asked by the West Sacramento Company on the pipe and when the purchase is made installation will be started immediately.

In the meantime the old pump and tank that has served for several years near West Sacramento headquarters will be continued at work to furnish water for those who now make their homes in the district.

LINGERING SICKNESS BROUGHT DEATH OF MRS. EMMA REINERSMAN

At the age of 78 years, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Reinersman passed away last Saturday morning.

During the past five months Mrs. Reinersman had been seriously ill and demanded practically the entire time and attention of her daughter, Mrs. P. A. Hart.

During two years Mrs. Reinersman had been more or less confined to her home with diabetes.

During the past fifty years Mrs. Reinersman had been a resident of Washington. Twenty-eight years ago her husband, Fred Reinersman, passed away and since that time she continued to make a living for herself and a young daughter, now Mrs. P. A. Hart.

She was a native of the State of Illinois, and on leaving there came directly to Washington and continually lived here since that time.

Prudently and genially taking care of her home, Mrs. Reinersman had little time for the follies of these days. She was more than busy looking after her family, and it was to her family that she devoted nearly her entire time.

During three years she served as postmistress of Washington.

She was a member of the Lutheran Church of Sacramento, and services were held at her home by the Lutheran minister on the day of her funeral. Her husband and three children preceded her to the grave.

Her funeral was held last Tuesday from a Sacramento undertaking parlor and interment was in family plot in the I. O. O. F. Lawn Cemetery.

THREE-INCH WELL SUNK FOR HOUSEHOLD PURPOSES

On the holdings of the Alaska Packers' Ass'n on what is known as the old Rice lease of Washington Lake a three-inch well has just been sunk by the association to provide a supply of water for Fraga and Azeveda, who have rented 500 acres of land there.

Fraga and Azeveda families are making their homes on the tracts and needed the supply of water for domestic purposes.

The well was sunk to a depth of 253 feet so that all surface water might be shut out.

The 500 acres rented by Fraga and Azeveda have been planted to alfalfa and are being watered from the irrigation ditch that runs through the district.

A new thermometer registers accurately temperatures as low as 380 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

CLARKSBURG LADY IS ROBBED IN SACRAMENTO

Mrs. H. Johnson, residing at Clarksburg, this county, reported to the Sacramento county police yesterday that the night previous she had been robbed of jewelry of the estimated value of $700 and which included a $600 solitaire diamond ring.

Mrs. Johnson, who was en route to her home in Clarksburg from Los Angeles, obtained a room for the night at 804½ K street, Sacramento. The Yoloite reports that she was awakened by a noise and just caught a glimpse of a man sliding through an open transom.

Aside from the valuable diamond, among the loot taken was a small gold pin valued at $25, other smaller items of jewelry and $5 in cash. The police have no clew.

What is the matter with the labor unions of the United States?

Only the other day the Standard Oil, for the first time, conceded an eight-hour day for its workingmen throughout the country.

Eyes & ears against DUI

The state has invited you to report suspected drunk drivers, and promises to do something about it. Let's take them at their word.

Sunday night is New Year's Eve, of course, and a lot of folks will have a few too many and then get behind the wheel, believing they can cheat the odds. That night – and every night – the public has been asked to help be "eyes and ears" for the California Highway Patrol and other law enforcement.

If you spot a suspected driver, you've been invited to (safely) call 911 and:

■ Tell the dispatcher you wish to report a drunk driver

■ Give the exact location of the vehicle, including the name of the road or cross streets and the direction the vehicle is traveling

■ Give a complete description of the vehicle, including make, model, color and license plate

■ Describe what's wrong with how the vehicle is being given.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, some of the signs of drunk driving include:

■ Turning with a wide radius

■ Straddling the center of the road or a lane marker

■ Appearing to be drunk: eye fixation, face close to windshield, drinking in the vehicle

■ Striking or almost striking another vehicle or object

■ Weaving or zigzagging on the road

■ Serving abruptly from a straight course, or turning illegally or abruptly

■ Driving more than 10 miles per hour below the speed limit

■ Stopping for no reason in a traffic lane

■ Following others too closely

■ Drifting in a straight line

■ Erratic braking

■ Driving into oncoming or crossing traffic

■ Signaling inconsistently with driving actions

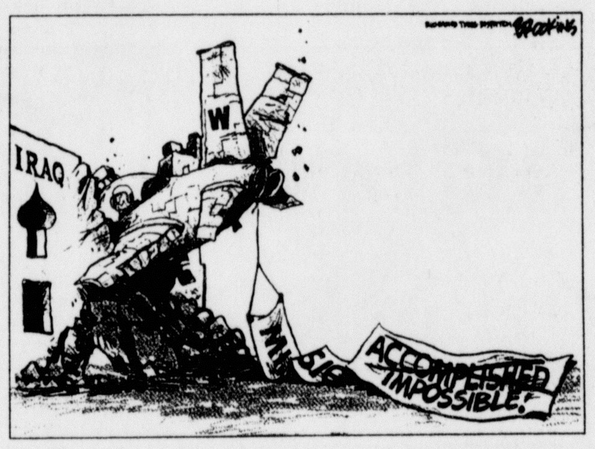

■ Slow response to traffic signals, including sudden stops or delayed starts

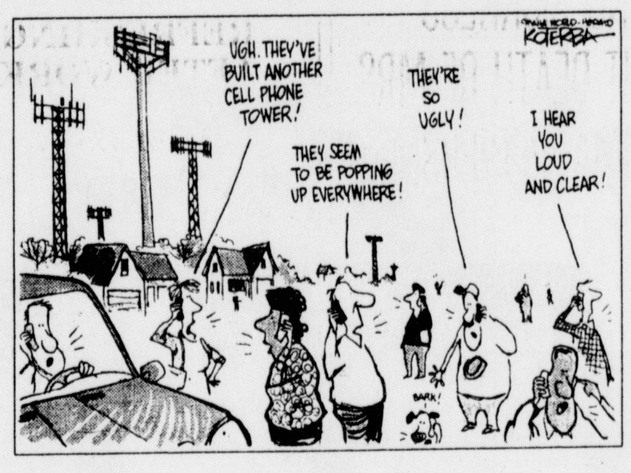

■ Driving at night with headlights off.

You have to admire the way "Mothers Against Drunk Driving" (MADD) and other activists and groups have worked to make drunk driving socially unacceptable to a large degree in America. Older Americans may remember a time when this dangerous and irresponsible behavior was seen as almost excusable, and even "winked at" by our society. Driving while intoxicated is now less tolerated in the U.S. But drunk driving has not disappeared, and continues takes the lives both of the drunks and their victims.

Gift Ideas

Gifts Get Personal

(NAPS)—If you want to give a present worth remembering, make your gift as personal as possible.

That's the advice from gift-giving gurus who say it's smart to take a few minutes to consider the personalities on your gift list, before you shop.

For instance, if you've got a foodie in your life, he might appreciate something as simple as being taken to dinner, while a gardener might love some new tools or a book about seeds.

Gift For Giving—The more personal you can make a present, the more memorable your gift will be.

If you're shopping for a wine or spirits connoisseur, check out a Web site called www.yourgiftlabel.com. It lets you personalize labels for some of the finest spirits in the world. Personal messages will be featured on exact label replicas that easily adhere over the bottle's existing label.

The service is simple and free, and the labels can be as clever or sentimental as you want. Plus, all orders will be delivered within 15 business days.

GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

"Happy Feet"

Running time: 100 minutes
MPAA rating: PG

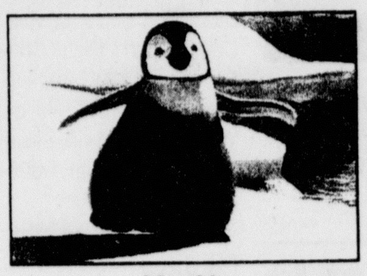

Elijah Wood (or rather his voice) stars as Mumble, the toe-tapping hero of the animated musical/comedy "Happy Feet," one of this year's best family films.

Director George Miller ("Babe," "Mad Max" trilogy) and the animation crew at Warner Brothers have created a gorgeous-looking film. The icy environs of Antarctica have a beautiful shimmer, and the penguins and other animals depicted look almost real enough to touch. It was almost like watching an all-singing/all-dancing remix of "March of the Penguins."

The plot of "Happy Feet" tackles two major themes: Being true to oneself, and caring for the environment. Born to an Elvis-like papa (Hugh Jackman as "Memphis") and a Marilyn Monroe-ish diva mother (Nicole Kidman as "Norma Jean"), Mumble is an outcast amongst the Emperor Penguins because he cannot sing. For the Emperor Penguins, the only way to find your soulmate is to sing your "heartsong" until it moves a penguin of the opposite sex to fall in love with you. Mumble cannot sing. He shrieks. However, he does have Happy Feet. He can dance with all the style of Savion Glover or Gregory Hines.

Feeling like an outcast with no chance of winning his true love, Gloria (Brittany Murphy), Mumble runs away and meets up with a group of Latino Adelie penguins led by the flamboyant Ramon (Robin Williams).

Together, they embark on an adventure into strange territory in order to make contact with The Aliens, who are responsible for the disappearance of almost all the fish around Antarctica. Of course, we all know who The Aliens are, which is where the environmentalist angle sets in.

"Happy Feet" runs at a breakneck pace. The musical numbers are a hoot, the comedy is spot-on and the animation is spectacular. Of course, in the end, love conquers all, and there's a Happy Ending; but I'm not sure I agree with the way the environmental awareness plotline was resolved. It's a minor quibble, so I won't really get into it. Besides, it would ruin the ending.

So, check out "Happy Feet." I guarantee you'll leave the theater with a bounce in your step.

Jill Jackson's HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD ... Here's hoping you wound up 2006 happily and are now feeling the same into 2007. And, incidentally, isn't that number 2007 a great ad for all the Bond films? Also, the new year ushers in Oscar, the Golden Globes and umpteen million other award shows of lesser magnitude. Award show-goers like the Globes better than the Oscars because at the former they sit at tables enjoying liquid libations and food. At the Oscars they just sit and sit AND sit in seats in a theater. Also, at the Globes anything can happen for fun on stage, while Oscar is more proper and sedate — except for the time the nude flasher ran across stage in front of presenter David Niven. ... And on another note: Interesting that Ellen DeGeneres, who will emcee this year, has done few feature films, and is actually a TV star. And speaking of Ellen. That lady has done so much for New Orleans, she could go back home and be elected mayor.

A bunch of us "show biz" writers sitting around discussing the "biz" on the subject of twosomes that never tied the knot — e.g., Kiefer Sutherland and Julia Roberts; Brad Pitt and Gwyneth Paltrow; Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn; Joan Crawford and Clark Gable; Johnny Depp and Winona Ryder; Frank Sinatra and Lauren Bacall; Burt Reynolds and Sally Field; Burt Reynolds and Dinah Shore; Victor Mature and Rita Hayworth; Warren Beatty and Joan Collins. AND, there are more, but lunch was over and so was that discussion.

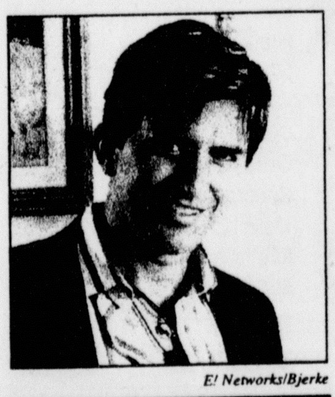

George Clooney (and hey, I just noticed his new shorter hairdo) is more than busy in the new year, what with acting, producing, writing and directing. First he will star in a film titled "White Jazz," an adaptation of James Elroy's novel about a corrupt police lieutenant assigned to an explosive case. The rest of his calendar is too long to list here, but let's just say it's filled to 2008. That's his WORK calendar; you can bet your last peso that Gorgeous George will still find time for the femmes. And on a sadder note: George's potbellied pig, Max, died peacefully at the age of 19. George owned Max for 18 years.

BITS 'N' PIECES: Like him or not, you'll have Letterman for a while longer. He's signed with CBS until 2010. ... To Benita Z. of Jacksonville, Fla.: Of course, Meg Ryan is still around. She's set to star in "The Best Awful" for HBO, an adaptation of a Carrie Fisher novel. As to her private life, I don't know where that is at the moment. ... You can bet Drew Barrymore will be front and center when the AFI honors Steven Spielberg. He's been her mentor ever since he bonded with her when she was 6 and he cast her in "E.T." ... Britney Spears wants to flee her Malibu manse for one in Beverly Hills. She's looking, and when she finds it we'll keep you posted. I'm told the one she sold went for $3 million, and she's now looking for one in the $7 million range. A far cry from the little birthplace in Kentwood, La. ... No doubt about Jack Nicholson being one of our finest actors, but word is he's becoming more and more difficult to deal with while filming. ... Word also that Madonna and mate might be seeking a bit of marriage counseling. ... Finally, word also round that the feud between Lindsay and Paris is becoming more and more heated. Don't ask me why. And surely I wouldn't ask them. I get out of the way when I see those two coming.

He's one of the world's most acclaimed plastic and cosmetic surgeons, and star of his own hit show on E! Entertainment Network, "Dr. 90210." Describe the varied eating habits of your everyday patients.

"Call them thin, slim, skinny or athletic, when these people go to the supermarket they spend their time shopping the items against the walls. Fruits, veggies, breads, meats, poultry ... basically foods we normally consider wholesome and healthy. My overweight and obese patients cruise up and down the middle aisles of the supermarket, buying snacks, cake mixes, frozen treats and a variety of other salt- and sugar-filled items. The next time you go to the grocery store look around, and you'll see exactly what I mean."

What foods from your home country of Brazil would appeal to U.S. diners?

"Brazil is a very poor country, and few people have the money to buy fancy foods. Rice, beans and chicken are staples, and the various dishes prepared with those ingredients would appeal to most people here. We also have delicious beef, range-grown. Plus, you can get some amazing fruits you rarely, if ever, see in the U.S. They are wonderful. I see some Brazilian 'churrasco' restaurants popping up, which feature chicken and beef cooked over an open fire. Tasty and fun."

Your fans know you're in top shape. What's the secret?

"Of course, there's plenty of exercise. My philosophy about dieting is simple. The main dish needs to 'have a face.' That is, let your primary meal of the day feature fish, poultry or lean beef. You need these sources of protein, but don't ruin them with ridiculous sauces. I eat throughout the day. My work is stressful, and I put in long hours. I bring cans of tuna to the office, along with cucumbers, tomatoes and onions. Breakfast is simple. Typically oatmeal or oat cereal, yogurt, raisins. And plenty of water all day long."

Forbidden sweet-tooth craving?

"OK, you got me! It's chocolate, but not the stuff you find in candy bars at the convenience store. We Brazilians are totally obsessed with high-quality chocolate, and I buy the best. Just a tiny bite is enough. And, in addition to satisfying my sweet tooth, there are medical studies that say that good chocolate can be healthy, as it contains lots of antioxidants."

What about your recipe?

"My wife, Haley, is a French-speaking Canadian, so there's definitely some Creole influence in our kitchen at home."

• Sale items for January: Still on sale are overstock Christmas or holiday items, sports equipment, gym memberships, furniture, bed and bath linens and computers and electronics.

• "To keep light bulbs from sticking in the socket, apply petroleum jelly to the base of the bulb before screwing it into the fixture." — B.D. in Virginia

• "After the rush of the holidays, our family has a little tradition of its own. We reserve one night to watch all our home movies from the season. We usually end up watching some of the other years' too. And our son has become a whiz at putting together slideshows on DVD of digital pictures, so we look forward to the first of many photo slideshows to add to the night's entertainment." — Y.K. in Alabama

• To make your own special flavor of coffee creamer, use a pint of fat-free or low-fat half and half and add the extract or spices of your choice. Some ideas: peppermint extract, chocolate syrup, almond extract, cinnamon, nutmeg or vanilla extract.

• "A shirt that I love has sleeves with ribbon ties at the end. The ribbon is silky and invariably unties — even with a double knot. My mother came to visit and came up with a wonderful solution. She tied the ends in a nice, even bow and then put a stitch through the whole thing. It never comes untied now, and it looks great!" — A.L. in Colorado

Delicious & Healthy

A Diet You Can Live With

(NAPS)—Here's food for thought: A healthful diet doesn't have to be dull. You can keep your weight down and your energy and sense of well-being up while enjoying such delicious dishes as this:

A new cookbook helps you make healthful, delicious oat bran pancakes. Top with sugar-free syrup or low-fat or fat-free yogurt.

Oat Bran Pancakes
Serves 6 to 8

Macadamia nut oil in a spray bottle
1 cup oat bran cereal, uncooked
½ cup whole wheat flour
¼ cup lo-han or 3 packets of stevia
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
Pinch of salt
2 cups heavy cream
2 eggs

Heat a nonstick griddle that has been lightly oiled with macadamia nut oil over medium-high heat. Combine the oat bran, flour, sweetener, baking powder, baking soda, and salt in a large bowl. Set aside.

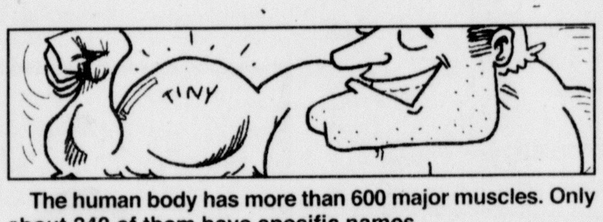

Beat the heavy cream and eggs in a small bowl with a wire whisk. Pour the egg mixture over the dry ingredients. Stir together until the ingredients are just blended and no large dry lumps appear.

Pour approximately 14 cup of pancake batter onto a hot, lightly oiled griddle. Cook until the pancakes are puffed, browned and slightly dry around the edges. Flip, then cook the other side until golden brown, about 2 minutes.

The recipe comes from a new cookbook created by Fred Pescatore, M.D., a traditionally trained physician who practices nutritional medicine, and Chef Jeff Harter.

Complete with glossy four-color photos of many of the dishes, it offers a sensible, easy-to-follow program, based on the long-proven healthful features of the Mediterranean way of life, combined with the best features of a low-carb diet.

In "The Hamptons Diet Cookbook" (Wiley), Dr. Pescatore provides the latest information about eating to prevent heart disease, cancer and diabetes, along with such healthy shopping tips as: "If the word 'whole' does not appear on the ingredients list, you are not getting whole-grain bread."

The human body has more than 600 major muscles. Only about 240 of them have specific names.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by PAMELA R. JEWELL in the Superior Court of California, County of YOLO.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that PAMELA R. JEWELL be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

We take care of everything when you can't think about anything.

We know what it's like not to be able to focus when a loved one dies. We know how hard it is to function. Especially when there's so much to do, so many decisions to make. If there's any comfort to be found, it's in knowing that every detail that needs to be taken care of will be. We know it's never easy, but we'll make it as easy as possible.

Every week will be a different theme. For information, call 375-6465. The library is located at 1212 Merkley Avenue, and the program is sponsored by the West Sacramento Friends of the Library.

Holiday waste

You can recycle a lot of what's leftover from the holidays: wrapping paper, cardboard boxes (flattened), greeting cards and beverage containers can all go into your curbside recycling cart. Christmas trees can be recycled by cutting them into 3-foot sections and leaving them at the curb next to your yard waste cart, or by dropping them off at Riverside Green Waste & Wood Recycling, 2903 Industrial Blvd., Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Trees may also be dropped off at the county landfill: call (530) 666-8729. If you are replacing a microwave, TV, clock radio or other electrical item, you can recycle the old one FREE at the landfill or by calling 877-879-9668 for pickup.

You can also prevent waste by canceling future gift catalogs that you won't be using. Call their toll-free service numbers and ask to get off their list.

Garbage & recycle day

West Sacramento's regular garbage and recycling pickups will not occur on New Year, January 1. Service will be offered the following day.

Chamber dinner

Christmas lights

A resident of West Sacramento's Call Court invites you to come by and see the local homeowners' famous annual Christmas light display. Flood insurance

The County of Yolo encourages residents, including renters who live in flood plains, to consider flood insurance. John Bencomo, director of the county's planning department, recommends that residents who live in a floodplain visit www.floodsmart.gov to find an agent. He cautions that since flood insurance policies don't take effect for 30 days, renters and homeowners should act expeditiously.

Golf Clubs

Q. I have a set of early golf clubs that I think might be valuable. I have had them for more than 50 years, and they were used when I purchased them. Is there a market for old golf equipment? — L.W., Lake Havasu City, Ariz.

A. One of the better references is the Official Price Guide to Golf Collectibles by Edward Kiersh (House of Collectibles, $19.95). It is the definitive resource for information on the widest range of equipment, souvenirs and other items essential to any golf collection. Filled with photos in both black and white and color, the guide looks at the world of collecting through the eyes of numerous experts, each specializing in a niche of the collecting field, such as golf balls, books, sheet music, signed photos and clubs.

Jeff Ellis is a leading authority on golf clubs. His contact information is P.O. Box 843, Oak Harbor, WA 98277; jegc@wjodbey.net; and 1-360-675-7611. You might also want to contact the Golf Collectors Society, P.O. Box 3103, Ponte Vedra Beach, FL 32004.

Q. I have a 1958 Ballyhoo pinup calendar and have been offered $50 for it. It is in mint condition. — James, Portsmouth, Va.

A. According to Collectibles Price Guide by Judith Miller, your calendar is worth in the $150-$200 range. Keep in mind, however, that this price range is only an opinion based on Miller's take on the marketplace. The actual value of an item — any item — is what someone is willing to plunk down for it in cold cash.

Q. I have a three-legged Franklin cast iron stove that I have seen referenced in The New Hampshire Book of Stoves. It is a genuine antique. Please advise. — Rhonda, Tilton, N.H.

A. One of the better sources is the Antique Stove Association, 2617 Riverside, Houston, TX 77004. Two of the better dealers are Richard Richardson, Good Time Stove Company, P.O. Box 306, Goshen, MA 01032; and Erickson Antique Stoves, Inc., P.O. Box 2275, At the Depot, Littleton, MA 01460.

Write to Larry Cox in care of King Features Weekly Service, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475, or send e-mail to letters.kfws@hearstsc.com. Due to the large volume of mail he receives, Mr. Cox is unable to personally answer all reader questions. Do not send any materials requiring return mail.
